

InventHelp Review

InventHelp is a leading inventor service company. Its services include creating drawings and submitting your ideas to companies for consideration. This company can be a huge help in getting your idea out in the market. You will be able to reach a wider audience of businesses with their help. InventHelp is also extremely helpful in gaining exposure for your idea.

InventHelp is a leading inventor service company

If you have an invention that you're passionate about, InventHelp can help you take it to market and build a business around it. They work with inventors to get their ideas from concept to product, and can even find full-scale manufacturing partners. By working with these firms, inventors can protect their intellectual property and get their products to market.

InventHelp was established in 1984 and has offices in the United States and Canada. They offer an extensive range of services to inventors, from providing low-cost patent referral to increasing their social media presence and getting their ideas noticed. The company has helped many inventors get their products to market, and has developed partnerships with several industry heavyweights.

It creates drawings

Invent Help can help you create detailed illustrations of your invention. Technical drawings are important for communicating the technical details of your idea to manufacturers. They use detailed lines, dimensions, and text to depict the workings of your invention. These drawings will help you pitch your idea to a manufacturer and get it approved. They can also help you get a patent for your invention.

InventHelp also creates 3D CAD presentations of your invention. These illustrations are sent to manufacturers and factories on their list. InventHelp works with you every step of the way to get your idea off the drawing board and into the hands of a manufacturer. InventHelp also helps you market your idea.

It submits ideas to companies

If you have an idea for a new product or service, InventHelp can help you market it. The company works to put your idea in front of the right companies and investors, which can help you patent and sell it. The company also writes press releases about your invention, which will help you get more exposure for your product.

After your idea is approved, InventHelp creates a three-dimensional CAD model that will help you visualize your product. The 3D CAD drawings are like digital blueprints. With this prototype, InventHelp can help you move from the video stage to the actual submission process. You can also send a physical prototype of your product, which will help prospective manufacturers and investors see the finished product.

It gives you exposure to businesses

InventHelp is a business that helps inventors market their invention idea. The company provides a virtual invention browsing experience that allows inventors to showcase their ideas and interact with companies. Through this experience, the company helps them get their ideas to the forefront of the market. The company also offers services to protect inventors and prevent invention theft.

InventHelp works with you to develop a press release to promote your product idea. The release will not disclose the inner workings of your invention, but it will give an idea of what your product or service could do. InventHelp then distributes the press release to nearly 3000 newsrooms worldwide. In this way, your invention will get more exposure to businesses and investors.